EDITORS TO MEET IN ALEXANDRIA

Accept Invitation to Hold Next Session in This City.

PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Alexandrian One of the Winners in Competition For Best Articles on Virginia.

Alexandria was selected as the next meeting place of the Virginia Press Association on Saturday afternoon during the meeting of the association held in Richmond. It was a unanimous vote of the executive committee that the meeting be held here although a number of other attractive propositions were made to the association.

The association will meet there in June and there will be between 150 and 200 guests. Practically all of the newspapers of the state are represented among the membership.

The meeting in Richmond was brought to a close on Saturday at a banquet tendered by Colonel John Murphy, of Murphy's hotel, during which time prizes amounting to $150 in gold were awarded for the three best essays on the topic, "How Best to Build Up the Commonwealth." The winners were Alexander Forward, editor of the Harrisonburg News Record, and formerly of The Times-Dispatch; C. B. Camper, of the Fincastle Herald, and Robert S. Barrett, editor of the Alexandria Gazette.

The award was made by a committee composed of Governor Mann, Mayor Ainslie, Alvin M. Smith, president of the Business Men's Club; T. M. Carrington, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. H. R. McIlwaine, State Librarian. Mayor Ainslie announced the winners. The committee had examined twenty-six papers, finding them excellent, and as each contained sugestion s of value it was recommended that they all be turned over to some experienced editor to be consolidated into a single article, so that all of the suggestions might be given consideration.

President Charles B. Cooke, of the Richmond Journal, who presided at the banquet, anounced Messrs. Forward, Camper and Barrett as the winners. Mr. Forward was introduced, and after some explanatory remarks read his paper, outlining a plan for a State board of trade, for improvement of lines of communication between Richmond and the Northern Neck and between Richmond and the upper Valley, for tax reform and for advanced rural education. Mr. Camper was not present, but his paper was read by President Cooke. It laid special emphasis on education, and on the duty of the press to show the way.

Mr. Barrett read his paper, urging broad and liberal treatment of transportation lines, in order that they may be better able to improve their facilities, and so better serve the Commonwealth; for good roads as the certain forerunner of progress and prosperity; for schools in which the hand was taught in conjunction with the brain, and for efficiency in city and town government as a cardinal virtue.

The banquet was a brilliant affair, and was served in the main dining room of the new hotel. At the speakers' table were Colonel and Mrs. John Murphy, hosts of the occasion; Governor William Hodges Mann, Henry C. Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cooke, John Stewart Bryan, Ben P. Owen, Mayor George Ainslie, T. M. Carrington, Alvin M. Smith and William Bullitt Fitzhugh.

Mayor Ainslie's account of how he had tried to persuade Governor Mann to settle the prize essay contests by rolling dice got every one in a good humor, and brought the Governor to his feet to respond to the toast of "The Leadies," the Governor saying that he could not have stood up under the onerous duties of his position, and sometimes the sharp criticisms to which his actions had been subjected had it not been that at the close of the day's work he had a home and a fireside to which to go.

Taking issue with the essayists who had contended that Virginia needed many things to make it a really great state, the Governor said that no State in the Union was making greater progress, and that when he went away he was greeted everywhere with an applause that does not meet the mention of any other State.

Henry C. Stuart seemed to be embarrassed that he had been unable to find any one in his own party or any other party who would run against him for the office of Governor. In politics, he said, he had always been a fighter. In this campaign he couldn't throw a stone without hitting a friend.

"I have already said," continued Mr. Stuart, "that I have made no promises. That is only partly true. I have made but one promise, and that if the people of Virginia should see fit to make me their governor, it is my purpose to give a foursquare deal to every man, woman and child in this Commonwealth.

"I am speaking to an assemblage of men on whose shoulders must rest a vast responsibility. Public sentiment is the most potent of all things, large or small and I ask, and ask most sincerely, the forbearance and the friendly aid, suggestion and advice of all of you who sit before me tonight. There will be in the years to come many places for differences of opinion. I only ask you to believe that it is my life ambition to render some valuable service to this grand old State of ours."

The local newspaper men who attended the convention are loud in their praise of the courtesies extended by Colonel Murphy at his new hotel. It is a magnificient structure and will rank high among the best hotels in the world.

LAST BARRIERS IN PANAMA CANAL

Ditch Diggers Will Break Them Away During This Week.

UNION OF TWO OCEANS

Waters of Atlantic Already in Gatun Lake—Dyke to be Blown up October 10th.

Panama, Oct. 6.—The waters of the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans will be joined at Panama for the first time in history of the world this week, and their union will mark the beginning of the last grand charge of the ditch diggers at the two barriers that exist against the union of the waters—Gamboa Dike and the slide, which came down at Cucharacha in December, completely blocking the channel. The waters of the Atlantic have already penetrated Gatun Lake, when the floating dredges that passed through the lock last week and the lake and ocean connected. The waters are now pressing against the dike, the destruction of which, when blown up on October 10, would ordinarily accomplish the wedding of the oceans, but Cucharacha Slide intervenes. This wall of earth south of Gold Hill, on the Pacific end of the cut, is thirty feet deep and 400 feet long and one-fourth as wide.

The water was pressing so hard against the dike on Wednesday that Colonel Goethals began piping the water in the lake to ease the strain. There is already five feet of water between the dike and the slide, and the destruction of the dike is fraught with grave possibilities, so much that Colonel Goethals issued orders to open a trench through the slide, whereby the pressure following the destruction of the dike will be relieved.

The trench will be opened in all probability on Wednesday whereupon the waters below the dike will burst through the passage to complete the channel, and for the first time in history the oceans will be united on Friday.

A thousand laborers are placing twenty tons of dynamite preparatory to blowing up the dyke.

The day it is destroyed will be a memorable one in the history of the canal, and Americans should realize that this is one of the few remaining finishing touches to the completion of the canal. Colonel Goethals can send a vessel through in less than a month.

The colonel's forces will advance upon Miraflores Locks from either side of the canal, and will open fire upon the obstruction. This attack, by the way, is already on, and a flanking movement has already been inaugurated in the rear of the Cucharacha Slide.

Colonel Goethals has established a battery of monitors, which will hurl a rain of eighty-inch streams, having a pressure of fifty pounds to the square inch, against the base of the slides. By this he calculates to reduce the mountain rock to a soft mud, which may be sluiced off to the lowlands. The effect will be to reduce the pressure on the slide and cause it to crumble. By front and rear attacks of this character it is but a matter of days until the last remaining obstruction is broken away, and which now prevents the canal from linking ocean and ocean.

Visitors are rushing in. The scenes along the Canal Zone resemble those of the final charge of an army against its foe. On the morning of October 9 the dredges will be floated through the Gatun Lake. On Friday the mine will be exploded under the dike and the channel, where the dike stood. Meanwhile the dredges to the south will be waiting word when the waters shall have swelled through the trenches.

WHOLESALE MURDERER.

Confessed Killing Fourteen Persons—Police Amazed.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, dancing teacher, who was shot to death at Wheaton, Ill., a week ago, was the victim of a modern bluebeard, who, according to his own confession, killed thirteen others in as many years.

Henry Spencer, arrested in a room near the South Side Levee district, last night, confessed that he not only killed Mrs. Rexroat, but that he had slain fourteen persons. He was positively identified as the mysterious Mr. Spencer, with whom Mrs. Rexroat left Chicago on the night she was killed. Mrs. Rexroat's blood-stained suit case was found in his room as was his revolver with which he said he had killed her.

Following is the list of killings Spencer related to Chief of Detectives Halpin

Prior to September 12, 1912:

Patrolmen Timothy Devine and Charles Pennel, shot at Ashland Ave., and Congress street, when they surprised Spencer and a man named Murphy in the act of forcing the door of a house. Murphy died in the penitentiary, Spencer said.

Fanny Thompson—Murdered in a rooming house at 12th street and Michigan avenue. Stole diamonds worth $1,200. Luman Mann, son of a wealthy Chicagoan, narrowly escaped conviction on circumstantial evidence for this crime.

September 12, 1912, to September 25th, 1913:

Two girls at Paw Paw, Mich., in May or June. Shot them and threw their bodies into the lake.

Girl at Delevan Lake, Wis., in June. Shot and body thrown into water.

Aged man in Jackson Park last spring. Shot and body thrown into the swan pond. Robbed body of $200.

Woman at Fulton and Halstead streets, about eight months ago. Killed her with hammer. Burned her clothing and robbed the house.

Woman in house about two blocks from County Hospital. Again used hammer and burned the clothing. Got $140 and some rings.

Woman in Bell Isle Park, Detroit, Mich. Met woman in New York, came with her to Chicago, and then both went to Detroit. He beat her to death and took her money, burning clothes and body. Did not know name. "They all lie to you," he asid.

His first wife at Fort Montgomery, N. Y. Beat her to death and took $300 in money and diamonds worth $800.

English immigrant woman. Killed her near Western Avenue, and threw her body into drainage canal. Body was recovered but identity never established.

Saloonkeeper in Van Buren street, near Aberdeen street. Shot man and wounded his wife while robbing saloon.

Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, murdered at Wayne, Ill., September 26.

OPENING OF THE STATE FAIR

Thousands Rush into Enclosure When Gates Opened Today.

DAZZLING FEATURES

Every Detail Arranged For Comfort and Entertainment of Patrons—A Gala Time.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 6.—The Virginia State Fair opened today under glorious auspices and thousands have been moving in and out during the day. Before the sun had set yesterday the State Fair Association was practically ready for its annual exhibition, and was in a more advanced state of preparedness that it has been since it started eight years ago. The rush and excitement usually incident to the work of the day before was not in evidence. Preparations had begun in ample time, some of the exhibits having been in place more than a week ago. The extension to the grand stand which will seat two thousand more people, was finished several weeks ago. The roadways and the race course have been rolled, oiled and finished with a new preparation and they are as free from dust as it is possible to make them.

Every tent was up and in position yesterday. The last of the show wagons were creeping in with their live and roaring freight as the sun went down. The hoarse cries of animals of the jungle mingled with the lowing of cattle, the shrill neighing of horses, the squealing of fattened pigs and the plaintive bleating of sheep. As the night came down the vast grounds became calm; all but a few lingering workmen laid down their tools, and the stage was set for a week of panoramic activity.

In spite of the injunction that the curious crowd should not be permitted to enter the grounds yesterday under any consideration, there were at least a thousand people, without passes and without actual interest in any of the exhibits, parading all over the place and through Ballyhoo Lane. Among them were a large number of boys. No attempt was made to force them out, and they overran the grounds at will. However, there was no sign of disorder, and the employes and exhibitors who were looking after their property surveyed the situation with calm. Protest, had it come, would have been useless.

Among the special features in the Industrial Building are the booths of the State Department of Agriculture, the Richmond Public Schools and the Richmond Health Department. The School booth is especially interesting in showing the handiwork of the Richmond children. Hard by is a booth devoted to "Votes for Women," decorated in flaming posters calling the attention of all male citizens to the several and various reasons why women should vote. A woman will be placed in charge and she will add original reasons whenever the crowd is large enough for her to speak.

The buildings are filled to excess with exhibits, and in several departments there are more than there is room for. Space is already so cramped that it will be impossible to show all the exhibits in advantageous style. In the women's department there are 400 exhibitors and more than 3,600 pieces to be shown and judged.

DAUGHTERS OF LIBERTY.

Friendship Council, D. of L., held an important meeting Friday night last. Two candidates were initiated and two applications for membership were received. This council will attend in a body the patriotic meeting of the M. P. Church on Wednesday night, October 8th. Members will meet at the hall at 7 o'clock sharp. The good of the order committee is making arrangements to have a box party in connection with a musical and literary entertainment on Friday night, October 17th, to which friends of the Council are cordially invited.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Young Men's Sodality Lyceum will hold a euchre and dance in their hall on October 23rd. Arrangements are in hands of a committee and this will mark the beginning of the weekly dances of the Y. M. S. L. Dancing Club.

The Rammel Cafe having arranged with the International News Service for their daily service for the games, will also furnish returns of the game by inning in the cafe as will be seen by advertisement. These returns together with the pictures of the International service will afford Alexandrians a chance to have a rare treat and an opportunity not being offered before.

Andrew Jackson Lodge, No. 120, A. F. & A. M., will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

A call will in all probability be extended this week by the Second Baptist Church of this city to the Rev. J. M. Crouch of Natural Bridge Va. to succeed Rev. C. Kelly Hobbs as pastor. Mr. Crouch preached at the church yesterday and made a very favorable impression.

The funeral of Benjamin F. Baggett who died on Friday was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from his residence 1612 King street. Services were conducted by the Rev. J. W. Duffey, pastor of the Washington Street Methodist Church South, and interment was made in Ivy Hill cemetery.

At a meeting of Washington Memorial Lodge of Perfection No 7, Scottish Rite Masons, to be held on Friday, the fourth, ninth and fourteenth degrees will be conferred in full form. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

FIRST DEBATE HELD.

Meeting of Alexandria High School Society.

A meeting of the Alexandria High high school literary society was held Saturday night in the school building. Two declamations, one by Tom Wattles and one by Otis Sunderlin, were heard. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, That the New High School Building Should be Situated on the Purchased Lot." The Affirmative, Tupper Barrett and Ashby Bladen, were pronounced victorious over the negatives, Albert Bryan and Helen Blake. In the absence of the president the inaugural addresses were postponed until the next meeting.

The next meeting will be on October 18. The declaimers will be Jack Reardon, Herbert Mills and Miss Corinne Reardon. The debaters, Miss Glasgow, Miss Henderson, Frank Johnston, and Hirst Mayes.

AGAIN ON THE WOOLSACK.

The many friends and acquaintances of Police Justice H. B. Caton will be glad to know that he is sufficiently recovered from his indisposition as to be able to resume his official duties. He was at his post at 9 o'clock this morning ready to deal with the offenders. Two of the delinquents who had left collateral failed to appear, and an assault case was postponed until tomorrow.

Justice Caton has been indisposed since last June.

GROWING A NEW NOSE.

Swathed in a plaster cast which covers her face and chest, Miss Nellie Radigan is growin a new nose ate Washington Asylum Hospital from a finger of her left hand. The bared flesh of the finger was sewed to the flesh surrounding the nasal passages Saturday morning is one of the most difficult operations ever performed in any Washington hospital. For two week's the woman's left hand will be bound to her face. Her arm is securely held in the plaster cast against her chest. At the expiration of the two weeks, if the operation is succesful, the flesh of the finger will be joined to that of the forehad and checks.

Surgeons then will cut the finger from the hand and form a plastic operation which will result in the formation of a new nose almost as good as that which Miss Radigan lost from the ravages of a serious maladay.

The patient came to the hospital from St. Elmo, Va., on October 28, 1911.

LEADERS SHOW SOME ANXIETY

Democrats Sound Assembly Call For Forces to Gather.

EAGER FOR QUORUM

Task of Enforcing New Tariff Law Begins—Decreases in Revenue Apparent Under Measure.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Democratic House leaders, alarmed at the absence of a quorum of members in Washington, were sending out urgent recall telegrams today. Tuesday, the urgent deficiency bill, carrying provisions abolishing the Commerce Court and removing all deputy revenue collectors and deputy United States marshals from civil service, is scheduled to come back from the Senate for action on amendments, and Republicans are preparing for a bitter fight.

Can it without a quorum, Democrats will be helpless, and the measure carrying $1,000,000 worth of patronage, will be delayed in passage and possibly killed all together.

The gigantic task of putting the new tariff law into operation is now being carried out by the Treasury Department, with the aid of other departments of the Government.

For months, the process of piling up goods in bonded warehouses, in anticipation of the lowering of duties, has been going on. Since Friday morning at New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and all the large ports, there has been a push to withdraw these goods from warehouses and get them into the channels of trade. Inasmuch as something over $100,000,000 worth of such goods were stored up, the volume of products of one kind and another will be enormous.

The Treasury is advised that at all the large ports there is great activity. This is especially true at New York, where Collector Mitchel and his subordinates were faced with the problem of supervising the withdrawal of about $70,000,000 worth of goods in bonded warehouses. This says nothing about the accelerated importations day by day, which the new tariff law will bring about.

A heavy loss in revenue will result to the Treasury from this process of storing up great amounts of goods in bonded warehouses in anticipation of the lowering of duties. Efforts were made in the Senate by Senator Sutherland and others to have such goods pay the old rates, but they failed.

PLEA FOR UNIVERSAL PEACE.

Hundreds of Knights Templar Hear Bishop Winchester Yesterday.

Pleading for universal peace, the Rt. Rev. Ridout Winchester, bishop of Arkansas, yesterday afternoon preached a sermon to 500 Knights Templars in the open air at St. Albans Cathedral close, Washington. Many members of Old Dominion Commmandery were in attedance, as were also some Alexandrians not members of the order. Universal peace, he said, can be attained only through the cooperation of the craftsmen, and this cooperation can be obtained only through the Masonic orders, which he called the main pillars that continue to support Christianity through all ages.

Bishop Winchester is a thirty-second degree Mason, a Knight Templar, and chaplain of the Masonic Veterans' Association.

Just before the sermon and after a prayer for the order, the knights rose, and holding their swords' hilts up, toward heaven, pledged themselves to Christianity.

The Woman's Auxiliary to R. E. Lee Camp will meet in Confederate Veterans building tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

The schooners John Branford and J. A. Whiting, the former for Machodoc Creek and the latter for Coan River, loaded with building material by Henry K. Field & Co., have sailed.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Men Who Will Raise Money For New Hospital Building Are Selected

President Hulfish of the board of trustees of the Alexandria Hospital, has named the following executive committee which will have charge of the work of raising the funds for the new Alexandria Hospital:

A. D. Brockett, chairman; J. T. Preston, James Duncan, W. A. Smoot, Jr., J. Y. Williams, R. S. Jones, Carroll Pierce, George D. Hopkins, Edward Leadbeater, C. S. T. Burke, J. W. Roberts, Harry Hammond, Arthur Herbert, Thos. A. Fisher, F. F. Marbury, W. A Moore, Jr, R. L. Payne, Jas. Bayne, T. J. Fannon, B. Weil, Isaac Eichberg, Wm. B. Smoot, G. L. Boothe, Wm. Campbell, J. Wm. May, J .H .Trimyer, W .W. Ballenger, and J. M. Hill.

The first meeting of the committee will be held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce tonight at 8 o'clock, when all members are urged to be present. An organization will be effected and plans discussed for the raising of the necessary funds.

Since the meeting a few nights ago of the trustees and friends of the Alexandria Hospital those interested in the movement for erecting a new structure to meet the growing demands which are being made upon this justly appreciated institution, suggestions have been made concerning the best site for such a structure, while others have named certain buildings which could be fitted up for hospital purposes.

There seems to be a general concurrence in the opinion that the building formerly used by the Mount Vernon Cotton factory on north Washington street, would be an ideal place, and the fact that it is upon the market at present has caused many to believe the time is ripe for a movement to that structure if it can be secured upon terms which can be met by the trustees of the hospital.

It is pointed out that the old factory building is one of the most substantial in Alexandria and it has during late years been further strengthened by steel girders and other safeguards.

This old landmark, at which in bygone years the whir of machinery was heard, has long been silent. It was seized by the government during the civil war and at the close of hostilities was started up again, but its career as a cotton factory brought to a close years ago. It was later purchased by the Portner Brewing Company and used as a bottling house. Recently that company has utilized other places on its premises for this purpose.

The fact that the building is in a locality generally serene and that the street in front of it is of tar macadam, inmates of the hospital would benefit by a tranquilty not obtainable in other sections of the city.

In the Corporation Court today a final decree was entered in the case of James A. Eaton, vs. Mary E. T. Eaton, by which the plaintiff was granted a divorce from the defendant upon statutory grounds.

LITTLE BOY FOUND DRUNK.

Officer Picks up Nine-Year-Old Child Who Was Helplessly Drunk on The Streets.

People on the streets Saturday afternoon had their attention attracted to a sad spectacle—Officer Gill was taking a little boy along who was drunk. Upon reaching the station-house a pint bottle of whiskey, about one-half of which had been used by the youngster, was found in one of his pockets. The boy, who is nine years old, managed to tell the officer his name and his place of residence and the parents of the child were notified. They soon had him home. When asked where he procured the whiskey, he alleged he stole it out of his house.

A quarrel arose between Shelly and Charles Swift, over a claim of 75 cents, which Shelly had against Swift. Short came between the men, and Shelly stabbed him in the abdomen. He was taken to the Abingdon Hospital where he died in a few hours. The slain man was 66 years old. Shelly left the country immediately following the stabbing, but was captured in Oregon. Shelly is represented in court by L. P. Summers, John J. Stuart aad S. C. Bumgardner. Commonwealth's Attorney P. W. Campbell is assisted in the prosecution by R. J. Summers.

WEAPON IN NEW TRIALS.

Davis' Dynamiting Confession May be Used Against Ryan.

New York, Oct. 6.—What use will be made of the startling confession of George E. Davis, union iron worker and dynamiter, depends largely upon the outcome of the cases of Frank M. Ryan and other officers of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers now on trial in the Federal courts.

Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association, whose pursuit resulted in the arrest of Davis here, said Saturday that if Ryan and his associates gained a new trial Davis' revelations would be the Government's most formidable weapon.

According to Drew, Davis received no promise of immunity or any favors in return for his sweeping admissions. He added, though, that the National Erectors' Association had been paying him since he gave up, what he could have earned at his trade—about $5 a day. Part of this money is going to Davis' wife, who lives here.

Davis told Detective Robert Foster, who arrested him, that several times while he was at work in recent months, beams dropped near him, and just before he gave himself up in Pittsburgh a big piece of steel from above grazed him by inches. This convinced him that the union wanted to get rid of him because it feared he would turn traitor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 6.—George E Davis, alias George O'Donnell, confessed dynamiter, who was arrested in New York Thursday, arrived here at 1:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Davis was taken at once to the Federal Building and his custody transferred to Edward Schmidt, United States marshal for the district of Indiana. It was announced that Davis will be kept in the Federal Building until the meeting of the Federal grand jury next month.

MEETING OF FERTILIZER MEN.

Governor Mann to Welcome Over Six Hundred Members.

Old Point Comfort, Va., Oct. 6.—The twentieth annual convention of the National Fertilizer Association, the annual meeting of the Southern Fertilizer Association and the third annual exhibition of fertilizer machinery, plant and equipment, materials and allied trades, which will be held at the Chamberlin Hotel Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, will be one of the largest gatherings of its kind ever held. More than 600 members are expected to be in attendance, representing every state of the Union, as well as London and Honolulu.

At the opening business session Tuesday morning, Governor William Hodges Mann, of Virginia, after a few words of welcome, will make an address on The Future of the Fertilizer Industry. Dr. Frank E. Cameron, of the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C, will give a talk on Agriculture during the morning session on Wednesday. Other prominent speakers will be A. F. Lever, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture and Dr. B. F. Kilgore, chemist of North Carolina.

Besides the regular routine business of the association, a program has been arranged by the entertainment committee consisting of excursions to points of interest, a reception Monday evening, a dance and a bridge party for the ladies attending.

CONGREGATION CHANGE FAITH

Body of Catholics at Montpelier, Wis., go Over to Episcopalians.

Fon du Lac, Wis., Oct. 6.—The unusual spectacle of what was once an entire Catholic congregation beng admitted to another denomination was presented in the case of St. Anne's Church, Montpelier, which has been admitted to the Episcopal organization by Bishop R. H. Weller, of this city.

The members of the congregation are, for the most part, Bohemian immigrants, who were originally brought to the little hamlet of Montpelier, Kewaunee county, by beet-sugar operators.

Bishop Weller assigned Rev. Louis L. Gardner, a priest in old Catholic orders, to visit the congregation and report upon the best method of ministering there.

The church has about 40 families. It was originally Catholic and was served by missionaries sent out by Bishop J. J. Fox, of the Green Bay Catholic Diocese, but, owing to its outlying position, it was not provided with a regular priest.

"The congregaton then became old Catholic, like my church," said Father G. B. Gauthier, who had charge of the transfer, "and now will be handled through Bishop Weller, of the Episcopal Church."

KILLED WHILE HUNTING.

Veteran Shot Through Head by Mistake for Groundhog.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 6.—James Staton, a Confederate veteran, aged 84 years, living in the southern part of the county, was accidentally shot and killed by G. M. Dillard while squirrel hunting Friday. Dillard and his brother-in-law, Mr. Allen of Norfolk, were out squirrel hunting on a creek near the home of John Martin, when he heard something heavy fall, thing which both were convinced was a groundhog on the rail fence. Dillard fired at it with his rifle, and when he heard something heavy fall, he ran at once to the spot, and found he had shot Staton. The object they had seen was a fur cap worn by Staton, and thee ball had entered th aged man's head, killing him instantly.

Dillard, almost overcome by grief, reported the accident to the authorities. Justice of the Peace Dawson summoned a coroner's jury, which promptly exonerated Dillard of all blame.

The aged veteran was also squirrel hunting, and was standing just behind a high rail fence, with only his fur cap showing, when he was shot. He leaves several children and a number of grandchildren.

NEGRO KILLED BY BULL.

Ben Lawson Was Attacked by Enraged Animal While in Field.

Buckingham, Va., Oct. 6.—Ben Lewson, colored, was attacked by a bull in a field on the Autrim farm and so badly injured that he died. Mr. Autrim and a friend were near at hand and took the colored man home in an automobile. Dr. Morris, who motored to the place in a short while, did all possible to save the negro's life, but he evidently had received severe internal injuries from which he did not recover.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 6.—Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellyson was operated upon Friday at the Johnson-Willis sanitarum by Drs. George Ben Johnson and Murat Willis for hernia, from which the official has suffered for some time. The operation was entirely succesful, and it is expected that within the next two weeks he will be able to return to his home. He will not be permitted to see visitors for several days yet.

Baltimore, Oct. 6.—Capt. William L. Balthis, 83 years old, a former resident of Baltimore, died Saturday at the home of his son, William L. Balthis, Jr., at Gastonia, N. C. He had lived there for the last two years. Born in Charlottesville, Va., he removed when young to Staunton, where he was Mayor for three terms.

During the Civil War he was captain of the Staunton Artillery in the Stonewall Jackson Brigade. He was thrice wounded at the battle of Malvern Hill.

HOW TO UPBUILD THE COMMONWEALTH.

The papers supplied by the members of the Virginia Press Association in competition for the prizes offered by Col. John Murphy on "How to Upbuild the Commonwealth," were rich in suggestions which, if adopted, would do much for the state, and the judges confessed that they had a great difficulty in making a choice of the winners. In fact a decision between the first few papers were so close that Mayor Ainslie suggested to Governor Mann that they would have to roll dice to reach a decision.

The first prize was won by Alexander Forward, formerly with the Richmond Times-Dispatch and now editor of the Harrisonburg News-Record. Mr. Forward's paper is a brilliant one and we hope that it will be read by the people of Alexandria.

One of the conditions of the contest was that the wining papers should be published in every newspaper in the State and the Gazette prints Mr. Forward's paper in full today. The other two winning articles will be published during the succeeding two weeks.

Mr. Forward's prize-winning essay is as follows:

"1. Unite the now scattered energies of active citizens in a concentrated State body to

(b) Tell the people elsewhere of the agricultural, commercial and industrial opportunities in Virginia.

"II.—Stop the flow of trade and money and blood to other States by developing better transportation facilities.

"III.—Make our system of taxation attractive instead of repulsive to prospective investors.

"IV.—Build up the Commonwealth by building good citizens.

I.—Organized Good Citizenship.

The Commonwealth of Virginia needs a State Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce to do for the State as a whole work of the sort so splendidly done for Richmond by its Chamber of Commerce. A majority of States have such organizations, most of them doing efficient work. They are always closely affiliated with local boards of trade.

Among the duties of this State Board of trade, or by whatever name it might be called, would be to enhance the efficiency of local commercial organizations; to organize publicity work to set forth to the world the opportunites of Virginia; to encourage the investment of local and foreign capital; to secure greater railroad mileage and better waterways; to so organize the active good citizenship of the Commonwealth that prompt and harmonious action might be secured at all times for consideration of subjects affecting the material interests of the State.

The writer has, through recent correspondence, secured information concerning the operation of such bodies. Twenty-eight States have them. They are supported mainly by voluntary contributions, and each year it is easier to get money for their support.

The Texas Commercial Secretaries and Business Men's Association has done notable work. It has organized a welfare commission which finds what existing laws are in disharmony with efficient and profitable operation of the State's industries. It has formed a farm life commisson, which studies rural problems. It conducts a publicity bureau, whose articles prepared by experts, were printed in 750 papers in 1912 to the number of 308,918. As the result, Texas is the best advertised State in the Union.

The West Virginia Board of Trade manages celebrations, adjusts train service, keeps members informed of the progress of legislation, boosts good roads, and gathers exhibits.

The Ohio State Board of Commerce is responsible for tax reform, State depository laws and public accounting legislation that has saved Ohio $1,250,000.

II.—Railroad Connection—Richmond and the Shenandoar and Rappahannock Valleys.

Every Virginian is proud of his capital city and proud of his State. It is painful to see the bulk of the commerce of two of the richest sections of Virginia diverted to Washington and Baltimore. Most of Tidewater and nearly all of the Valley of Virginia trade with outside cities.

Worse than the loss of commerce is the loss of citizenship. Young men of these sections, instead of going to Richmond and other Virginia cities, drift to Baltimore and Washington, where their home people trade. They build up business connections with the folks back home that will last for generations, and the loss of good blood becomes appalling. There should be united effort for a railroad to the Rappahannock, and for adequate railroad facilities between the upper valley and Richmond.

III.—Tax Reform.

It is discouraging to the prospective resident of Virginia to find that the State taxes bank deposits—a tax on thrift that drives away much money. It should be abolished.

There should be a body authorized to create equalization of taxable values, so that the intending purchaser of property will not find that it is assessed at $2,500, when he is asked $10,000 for it. He is convinced at once that something is wrong. Every real estate dealer has had possible investors thus kept away from the State.

IV.—Making Men and Women.

From the rural communities of Virginia come the men and women who make the future citizens of the cities and towns. In the rural communities must be trained the boys and girls that we hope to keep on the farm. Country life must be enriched and dignified, so that the incentive to remain on the farm may be stimulated by the certainty of financial success and the growing importance of community life, and so that those who leave may be stronger and worthier citizens where they locate. The rural communities of Virginia thirst for knowledge and for fuller life. They want libraries. They want better schools, and these adapted to own needs. As a matter or fact, the best and highest paid teachers should be placed in the smallest and most isolated neighborhoods. These teachers should be equipped to impart appreciation of the dignity of rural life. The State must help to create such teachers and make their little schoolhouses the centers of community life. The normal schools should be adequately provided for, and their work should be extended with this in view.

The best material for building up the Commonwealth is the boys and girls, and the best factory is the rural community."

ALEXANDRIA GLAD TO HAVE THE SHRINERS.

The visit of members of Acca Temple of the Ancient and Accepted Order of the Mystic Shrine and the presence of the nobility from many other points in Alexandria on last Saturday, added another pleasant chapter to the Masonic history of Alexandria already known as one of the most famous Masonic spots in the world. As is well known the Shrine is not really a part of Masonry but its membership is composed of persons who are either Knights Templars or who have attained the 32d degree of the Scottish Rite. In this way the two branches of this great order are brought together in an organization where good fellowship and is the principal object and where fun and laughter prevail.

The visiting Nobles were out for a good time Saturday and they had it. The local members of the order were prompt to see that everything was done for their pleasure and comfort. Headed by E. E. Downham, Imperial Representative of Acca Temple, and the "noblest of them all," they made things lively for their visitors.

Alexandrians, generally, were glad to welcome the members of Acca and hope that very often they will make this city the starting point of their pilgrimages to Mecca.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

In an Adirondack woods hunting accident yesterday, Duane Davignon, of Corinth, N .Y., was probably fatally wounded. Fred Fish, of the same town, accidentally dropped his gun, which was discharged, the shot striking Davignon in the back.

Mrs. James Smith, 35, was shot and instantly killed by Mrs. Silas Gibson in a dance hall at Highbridge near Lexington, Ky., yesterday. Mrs. Smith was standing in the dance hall with her husband, and was holding a 7-month-old baby in her arms when Mrs. Gibson came up behind and fired the fatal shot. Jealousy is believed to have been the cause of the murder.

The body of a woman, her clothing torn to shreds, was found on a prairie near Argo, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, yesterday. She apparently had been strangled with a heavy cord which lay near. There were no signs of a struggle near the spot where the body was found, but fresh automobile tracks indicated that the woman had been murdered at some distant place. The woman was about 35 years old.

A. W. Hughes, a prominent lumber dealer of Thomasville, N. C. ,was instantly killed there Saturday while driving a big touring car through the main street of the town. Five thousand people gathered for a big celebration witnessed the accident. Among the number were the wife and children of the victim. The machine skidded and turned turtle, pinning him beneath it.

Twenty-seven persons are missing following the sinking of the military tug Guarany, which was run down Friday during maneuvers by the Lloyd-Brazilian liner Berberema near Rio de Janerio. There were 50 persons, including several naval officers aboard the tug at the time. Twenty-three were saved.

Col. James E .Tate, an aged and supposedly wealthy resident of Baltimore, hanged himself in his room in a Broadway New York, hotel, the body being discovered last night by a maid. He looped thin packing cord around his neck, tied it to a window hook and suffered what an ambulance surgeon said was a slow death, as his feet touched the floor and his body was in a semisitting position.

Mrs. Fanny B. Ward, writer and lecturer, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nelly Ward Jex, in Washington, last Saturday night after an illness of over six years. The immediate cause of death was cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Ward was born in Montoe, Mich., January 2 1913.

During a balloon ascension at Barcelona, Spain, yesterday, a spectator accidentally caught hold of the guide rope and was carried up. The aeronaut, in an attempt to assist him fell out of the basket and was killed. The spectator retained his grip on the rope and landed unhurt a few miles from the city.

The first hunting fatality reported in the Adirondacks this season is that in which Gile H. Jones, 22 years of age, of Turin, lost his life yesterday. He and a party of friends were camping at Moose River. They started out after deer, and Jones separated from his companions to watch a runaway. Soon after a shot was heard and then a cry, and search revealed Jones dead, shot through the heart. His rifle had been discharged but how the accident happened is a matter of conjecture.

Rev. Lloyd Baker Field, pastor of the Presbyyterian Chruch at Warren, Ark., defied his own church which treatens to oust him, by wedding Miss Lillian Philips, a divorcee here. HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

STORMY WEATHER COMING.

Weekly Forecast From The Federal Weather Bureau.

A storm now covering the southwest will move northeastward, causing inclement weather in the great central valleys Monday and Tuesday in the Eastern States by Wednesday the Weather Bureau's Weekly Forecast announced yesterday. West of the Rocky Mountains generally fair weather will prevail until the latter part of the week, when there will be rains in the North Pacific States.

Temperatures below the seasonable average during the week over the Mississippi Valley and the districts west thereof are indicated with frosts over the plateau and Rocky Mountain regions, the Middle and northern Plain States and the upper Mississippi Valley during the first half of the week.

East of the Mississippi Valley temperatures will be near the normal the first half of the week, and below during the second half, with frosts in the region of the Great Lakes, the Ohio Valley and the North Atlantic States.

The disturbance in the Southwest will be preceded and attended by well distributed precipitation east of the Rocky Mountains.

There are no indications at this time of a disturbance in the West Indies.

TRIENNIAL CONVENTION.

Will be Notable Gathering of Episcopalians.

New York, Oct. 6.—The forty-third triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America will assemble here on Wednesday for a period of three weeks. The scene of the notable gathering will be the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

There are a number of questions confronting the convention which are of vital importance to the church. One of these is whether or not the house of bishops shall meet in open session hereafter. It has been the custom for 128 years for the house of bishops to meet behind closed doors.

Another question almost certain to arise, is that of instituting the practice of anointing the sick with oil as an accompaniment to prayer. This ceremony was advocated with great vigor by some of the younger members at the Cincinnatti convention, but the late J. Pierpont Morgan, at that time the senior layman of the church, had so little patience with the advocacy of this ceremony that he left the church with the remark that he couldn't sit there and "listen to any more nonsense."

The question of changing the name of the church to that of the Catholic Episcopal Church of America will be the subject of perhaps the most spirited conutroversy of the convention.

The present president, the Rev. Dr. Randolph H. McKim, of Washington, has stated that he will fight from the floor any effort to change the name of the church. For this reason the question likely will arise when it comes to the selecting of Dr. McKim's successor.

CASE OF MRS. EATON.

Prosecutor to Press Charge of Poisoning Admiral.

Hingham, Mass., Oct. 6.—The mysterious death of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton at his home in Assinippi seven months ago was the subject of further secret inquest here Thursday.

Eight witnesses were heard, most of them neighbors of the Eatons. It is upon the evidence adduced at the inquest that Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, the admiral's widow, who is charged with murdering her husband by administering poison, is to be tried October 14.

At the conclusion of the proceedings the inquest was again adjourned indefinitely, but District Attorney Albert S. Barker announced that it would be reconvened before Mrs. Eaton is brought to trial. Mr. Barker declared that the government is satisfied with its case as developed to date. He scouted reports that the prosecution might be forced to squash the indictment against Mrs. Eaton, and said she would positively be brought to trial October 14.

Officials informed of the facts upon which the government is building its case said yesterday that it is one of circumstantial evidence, that there has been secured as yet no definite clew to the place where the poison was purchased nor as to the identity of the person who purchased it. One official connected with the case said today that "the real facts in the case have not yet come out. When they do it will be an interesting story."

The witnesses heard included Mr. and Mrs. John Hilts, neighbors of the Eatons at Assinippi; F. S. Alger, of Rockland, a newspaper man who had an interview with the widow soon after her husband's death, and a woman nurse who attended the naval officer in his last days; Herbert Simmons, a neighbor, and Earl C. Foreman, a clerk in a store at Assinippi.

Monument to Barry.

Commodore John Barry, hero of the Revolution, who captured the first British vessel which ever surrendered to the United States, is to be honored with a $50,000 statue of the Fourteenth street side of Franklin Park, Washington. The statue was authorized by Congress four years ago, and will be of bronze on a stone pedestal.

John Barry was born in county Wexford, Ireland, in 1745, and by the time he was 15 years old, he had accumulated large wealth, and became master of a sailing vessel plying out of Philadelphia. At the outbreak of the Revolution he was put in command of the Lexington, and in 1776 captured the British tender Edward, a much larger ship.

He was then transferred to the frigate Effingham which was burned under him after the British had captured Philadelphia. Later, in another vessel, he captured both the Atlanta and Trepassy, of the British fleet, after a desperate battle.

When the first real American navy was formed he was put in command of the frigate United States as senior officer, with the rank of commodore. He died in Philadelphia, September 13, 1803.

Do You Need any Advice From a Printer?

If you are a business man there are lots of matters that come before you in the Printers' line that need attention. Possibly you want to send out a letter soliciting trade.

Again, you may want to prepare an attractive circular setting forth the advantages of the lines of goods you have for sale. And still again you may have a line of goods that you feel sure the public would buy if they only appreciated the advantages of your particular line.

You know that you want these things and at the same time you feel that you cannot spare the time to study out just what you wish to say. We know this because a lot of business men in Alexandria have told us so.

The next time this happens to be the case with you, Telephone the BARRETT PRESS and a member of the firm will call to see you and help you out on the matter. Our many years of experience is at your service. Do not hesitate to do this, because that is our business.
